

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To provide an information providing system which can easily and quickly provide information about suppliers.

- 5       The system includes a map database storing supplier information and map information about suppliers after linking them, a record database storing the sales record about suppliers, and a database storing the sales information about suppliers. By
- 10   inputting a condition, information satisfying the condition can be retrieved from each database and provided.